Melissa Cyrus is a dynamic and energetic speaker. She entered the entrepreneurial market through a jewelry direct sales company. At the time, she was in an abusive marriage and lost her self worth. She rose up to the top in sales and earned several awards. Through the process, she realized that as women we stop caring about how we dress and present ourselves when we lose our self-worth. Her passion is to help all women to feel beautiful and confident.

Embrace the Best You!

Women's bodies go through transformation moments that often leave themselves with a body they are unfamiliar how to love. These transitions can make us feel less than sure of the gifts we are given. Through education women understand their current body and how to boost their confidence in dressing it with the right cuts, textures and patterns. A simple scarf and learning how to tie it can elevate the basics to a take on the world outfit. Transforming women from the outside in!
